The University of Arkansas at Monticello School of Education has a year-long internship. During the first semester of internship, candidates are in the field four days per week and working with public school and university faculty in a public school immersion program one day a week for 15 weeks. The immersion program allows candidates additional hands-on, real world experiences while still under the intense supervision of a methods instructor. During the second semester of internship, candidates are in the field five days per week for 15 weeks. Candidates are involved in a variety of school-based activities directed at the improvement of teaching and learning, such as, service learning projects embedded in the schools, collaborative projects with peers, and authentic learning experiences.

Enrollment

THIS PAGE INCLUDES:

On this page, enter the number of candidates for an initial teaching credential who are enrolled in the initial teacher preparation programs within your institution of higher education (IHE) or organization. Do not report on the total number of students enrolled in the entire IHE. Do not include individuals who currently hold a teaching credential and are seeking additional licenses or endorsements, or individuals preparing for school-based careers other than classroom teachers (e.g., administrators, guidance counselors).

The Department recognizes that in many cases, candidates voluntarily report their race/ethnicity and gender data, and that in some cases, candidates may choose not to report this information. Please report on the race/ethnicity data you have available, though the data may not be complete. It is not expected that the sum of the enrolled students reported by race/ethnicity or by gender will necessarily equal the total number of students enrolled.

If your IHE offers both traditional and alternative programs, be sure to enter the candidates enrolled in the appropriate reports. For the traditional report, provide only the candidates enrolled in traditional programs within the IHE. For the alternative report, provide only the candidates enrolled in the alternative programs within the IHE.

After entering the enrollment data, save the page using the floating save box at the bottom of the page.

Enrollment

For the purpose of Title II reporting, an enrolled student is defined as a student who has been admitted to a teacher preparation program, but who has not completed the program during the academic year being reported. An individual who completed the program during the academic year being reported is counted as a program completer and not an enrolled student.

Provide the number of students in the teacher preparation program in the following categories. Note that you must report on the number of students by ethnicity and race separately. Individuals who are non-Hispanic/Latino will be reported in one of the race categories. Also note that individuals can belong to one or more racial groups, so the sum of the members of each racial category may not necessarily add up to the total number of students enrolled. ## Teachers Prepared

On this page, enter the number of program completers by the subject area in which they were prepared to teach, and by their academic majors. Note that an individual can be counted in more than one academic major and subject area. For example, if an individual is prepared to teach Elementary Education and Mathematics, that individual should be counted in both subject areas. If no individuals were prepared in a particular academic major or subject area, you may leave the cell blank. Please use the "Other" category sparingly, if there is no similar subject area or academic major listed. In these cases, you should use the text box to describe the subject area(s) and/or the academic major(s) counted in the "Other" category.

If your IHE offers both traditional and alternative programs, be sure to enter the program completers in the appropriate reports. For the traditional report, provide only the program completers in traditional programs within the IHE. For the alternative report, provide only the program completers for the alternative programs within the IHE.

After entering the teachers prepared data, save the page using the floating save box at the bottom of the page.

Teachers Prepared by Academic Major

Please provide the number of teachers prepared by academic major for academic year 2017-18. For the purposes of this section, number prepared means the number of program completers. "Academic major" refers to the actual major(s) declared by the program completer. An individual can be counted in more than one academic major. If no individuals were prepared in a particular academic major, please leave that cell blank. (§205\(b\)\(1\)\(H\))

Please note that the list of majors includes several "Teacher Education" majors, as well as several noneducation majors. Please use care in entering your majors to ensure education-specific majors and non-education majors are counted correctly. For example, if an individual majored in Chemistry, that individual should be counted in the "Chemistry" academic major category rather than the "Teacher Education–Chemistry" category.

Program Completers

On this page, enter the total number of individuals who completed the program in AY 2017-18 and the two prior academic years. If you submitted an IPRC last year, the number of program completers for the two prior academic years are pre-loaded from your prior year's report.

A program completer is a person who has met all the requirements of a state-approved teacher preparation program. Program completers include all those who are documented as having met such requirements. Documentation may take the form of a degree, institutional certificate, program credential, transcript or other written proof of having met the program's requirements. In applying this definition, the fact that an individual has or has not been recommended to the state for initial certification or licensure may not be used as a criterion for determining who is a program completer.

An individual cannot be classified as both enrolled and as a program completer at the same time. An enrolled individual is not a program completer. Once an individual has met all the requirements of a state-approved teacher preparation program and becomes a program completer, the individual is no longer classified as enrolled.

After entering the program completers, save the page using the floating save box at the bottom of the page.

8. Describe your institution's most successful strategies in meeting the assurances listed above:

Knowledge, skills and dispositions related to diversity are systematically integrated into coursework, field experiences, and clinical practice. For example, the internship evaluation instrument requires systematic rating for how candidates adapt instructional opportunities for diverse learners; plan instruction and student evaluation based on in-depth understanding of the content, student needs, curriculum standards, and the community; communicate student achievement and progress to students, their parents, and appropriate others; create a classroom culture that develops student intellectual capacity in the content area; and communicate clearly and correctly with students, parents and other stakeholders. These particular assessment items ensure reflection, dialogue, and improvement strategies to assist candidates in developing proficiency related to diversity. Field experiences require all candidates to prepare and implement lessons and to develop and use appropriate assessments to demonstrate their ability to ensure that the learning needs of a diverse student population are being met. Professional education courses such as Needs of Diverse Learners in Inclusive Settings, Child and Language Development, Strategies for Teaching Special Students, Characteristics of Exceptionality, Strategies for Teaching and Assessing Students With Special Needs, Literacy Acquisition and Development, Learning and Development of Early Adolescence and Adaptive Physical Education provide instruction and field experiences that further ensure that all candidates are proficient in their knowledge, skills, and dispositions related to diversity.

Use of Technology

1. Provide the following information about the use of technology in your teacher preparation program. Please note that choosing 'yes' indicates that your teacher preparation program would be able to provide evidence upon request. (§205\(a\)\(1\)\(F\))

Does your program prepare teachers to:

- a. integrate technology effectively into curricula and instruction

Yes
 No

- b. use technology effectively to collect data to improve teaching and learning

Yes

2. Provide a description of the evidence that your program uses to show that it prepares teachers to integrate technology effectively into curricula and instruction, and to use technology effectively to collect, manage, and analyze data in order to improve teaching and learning for the purpose of increasing student academic achievement. Include a description of the evidence your program uses to show that it prepares teachers to use the principles of universal design for learning, as applicable. Include planning activities and a timeline if any of the four elements listed above are not currently in place.

The UAM School of Education understands that despite the idea of candidates being "digital natives," we should not assume that candidates know how to use technology to create quality projects that show a deep understanding of content; therefore, all candidates in the initial licensure programs take an introductory instructional technology course. Additionally, technology is integrated throughout the curriculum. School of Education faculty and candidates are expected to incorporate appropriate use of technology into all instruction. Candidates are taught to collect and analyze data by accessing electronic state and national databases. Candidates utilize that data to identify low performing content areas and subpopulations. Candidates are placed in field experience settings where they see technology modeled by the public school teacher and students in the classroom. During the year-long internship, candidates demonstrate the appropriate use of technology to implement the State Standards and to support college and career readiness skills in all of their instruction.

Knowledge, skills, and dispositions needed to work with special needs students are systematically integrated into coursework, field experiences, and clinical practice. ## Contextual Information

Please use this space to provide any additional information that describes your teacher preparation program(s). You may also attach information to this report card (see below). The U.S. Department of Education is especially interested in any evaluation plans or interim or final reports that may be available.

The University of Arkansas at Monticello (UAM) is a four year public state funded open admission institution. UAM is the only institution of higher education in the rural southeastern corner of the Delta Region of Arkansas. The region has a very diverse population that includes a number of different ethnicities, races, exceptionalities, languages, religions, and socioeconomic levels. The region has many families whose annual incomes are below the national poverty level. It is from this diverse population that the UAM School of Education draws its candidates. The UAM School of Education is the primary resource of new teachers for the current fourteen partner school districts. More than eighty percent of the area's public school teachers are UAM graduates. Additionally, the UAM School of Education has produced the Arkansas Teacher of the Year, as well as, a runner-up to the Arkansas Teacher of the Year in the last five years. The UAM School of Education offers three initial licensure degrees at the undergraduate level, two of which are offered off-campus via distance learning technologies. The School of Education has a 2 +2 partnership agreement with two community colleges; South Arkansas Community College and Phillips Community College University of Arkansas, to deliver the P-4 Early Childhood program and the Middle Childhood program via distance learning technologies to the high need south west Arkansas and the Mississippi River Delta regions. UAM accepts the community college Associate of Arts in Teaching degree (AAT), Associate of Art Degree (AA) or its equivalent as hours toward the completion of the four year degree in P-4 Early Childhood or Middle Childhood. The 2 +2 candidates must meet the same admission to teacher education requirements as the traditional teacher education candidates. The candidates are located in rural southwest Arkansas or the Delta regions and are at least an hour to two hours from the UAM campus; therefore, many courses are delivered via Compressed Interactive Video (CIV), or hybrid (two credit hours face-to-face and one credit hour on line) by UAM School of Education faculty. The candidates are taught as a cohort via CIV and Blackboard online education platform during the first year of instruction and are required to take nine hours of methods classes on the UAM campus in a traditional setting during the Internship I semester. A unique aspect of the initial licensure degrees is that the UAM School of Education has a year-long internship that has been an integral part of the UAM teacher preparation programs for the past 20 years. All candidates complete the internship in diverse settings and at multiple grade levels. During the first semester of internship, candidates are in the field four days per week and working with public school and university faculty in a public school immersion program one day a week. The immersion program allows candidates additional hands-on, real world experiences while still under the intense supervision of a methods instructor. Candidates are involved in a variety of school-based activities directed at the improvement of teaching and learning, such as, service learning projects embedded in the schools, collaborative projects with peers and authentic learning experiences. The year-long internship culminates in a Teacher Work Sample Portfolio, which provides evidence of candidates' pedagogical and content knowledge, as well as, demonstrates candidates' abilities to be members of instructional teams in the school, and that they are active participants in professional decisions. All initial teacher preparation programs are approved by the Arkansas Department of Education and have received national recognition from the appropriate Specialty Professional Association where applicable. The UAM School of Education aspires to prepare multi-faceted highly qualified professional educators who are caring individuals and are committed to addressing the challenges of educating a diverse population of P-12 students in an evolving technological world.
