Report on Assessment to the CASAA Committee

1. List the learning outcomes (goals) for your unit. Include the specific website address where the learning outcomes can be accessed.

Candidates (students) completing a degree in the School of Education must be able to demonstrate the five strands of the Conceptual Framework (the underlying structure in the School of Education that gives conceptual meaning to the unit's operations through an articulated rationale and provides direction for programs, courses, teaching, candidate performance, faculty scholarship and service, and unit accountability) which includes Knowledge, Diversity, Pedagogy, Professionalism, and Technology. The successful candidate must be able to demonstrate the following outcomes:

1. Initial candidates (students) will acquire a knowledge base in order to promote student learning.
Advanced candidates (students) in the Master of Education program and other advanced programs of study will acquire an in-depth knowledge base in order to promote student learning and become teacher leaders.
Advanced candidates (students) in the Master of Education in Educational Leadership program will acquire an in-depth knowledge base to promote student learning, effective instructional programs, positive school culture, and to develop teacher leaders.
2. Initial candidates (students) will develop pedagogical knowledge, skills, and dispositions that result in improved learning and achievement for a diverse population of learners.
Advanced candidates (students) will acquire an in-depth understanding of the theories related to pedagogy and learning.
3. Initial and advanced candidates (students) will recognize the diversity of learners, faculty, and the community they serve to improve teaching and learning.
4. Initial and advanced candidates (students) will demonstrate professionalism through interactions with students, parents, colleagues, and others.
5. Initial and advanced candidates (students) will utilize a broad range of technology to improve teaching and learning.
Advanced candidates (students) will apply educational research and policies in their own practices. (www.uamont.edu/education/PDFs/UnitGoals.pdf)

The School of Education is accredited by the National Council for Accreditation of Teacher Education (NCATE). School of Education has been NCATE accredited since 1968 and be seeking continuing accreditation in the fall semester of 2015. The School of Education must seek reaccreditation every seven years.

3. Narrate and attach copies of specific evidence of the ways that your unit communicates learning outcomes to prospective and current students.

- a.) Teacher candidates (students) are provided course syllabi. The course objectives are identified in each syllabus and are aligned to the specific unit, state, and national standards/expected learning outcomes for each program. The expected learning outcomes which are aligned to the unit conceptual framework (the underlying structure in the School of Education that gives conceptual meaning to the unit's operations through an articulated rationale and provides direction for programs, courses, teaching, candidate performance, faculty scholarship and service, and unit accountability) that describes the vision, mission, philosophy, and goals of the unit and its programs. (http://www.uamont.edu/Education/Assessment report 2009/Syllabi.pdf)

- b.) Candidates (students) can also download a copy of and read the conceptual framework (the underlying structure in the School of Education that gives conceptual meaning to the unit's operations through an articulated rationale and provides direction for programs, courses, teaching, candidate performance, faculty scholarship and service, and unit accountability) on the School of Education Website, which provides detail learning outcomes that candidates (students) are expected to meet. (<http://www.uamont.edu/Education/PDFs/ConceptualFramework.pdf>)
- c.) The assessments candidates (students) are expected to complete for each course is scored using a rubrics that is aligned to the conceptual framework (the underlying structure in the School of Education that gives conceptual meaning to the unit's operations through an articulated rationale and provides direction for programs, courses, teaching, candidate performance, faculty scholarship and service, and unit accountability) as well as the state and national standards. The rubrics were developed using specific standards. The following alignment matrices were developed to demonstrate what state and national standard aligns to what strand of the conceptual framework. These alignment matrices are given to the candidates (students) in addition to the rubrics for specific assessments in courses.

4. Provide specific evidence including historical patterns or trends of how your unit assesses whether students have achieved your unit's student learning outcomes.

NOTE: THE DATA FOR ALL PROGRAMS THAT HAVE A PRAXIS EXAM AS ASSESSMENT 1 INDICATE THAT 100% OF THE PROGRAM COMPLETERS PASS THIS EXAM.

a.) NAEYC (National Association for the Education of Young Children)

The UAM P-4 Early Childhood Teacher Education program of study has identified 7 assessments to measure and demonstrate candidate mastery of NAEYC standards. 5. Provide evidence that the measures of student performance that your unit collects and analyzes regularly. Address specific examples of how analyses of student performance have been used to improve unit decisions.

The School of Education collects and analyzes data regularly the links below describe the process and the changes that have been made based upon that data.

Data Analysis Process Flow Chart

Data Drive Programmatic Changes

Data Overview for NCATE

6. Describe and provide examples of how your unit utilizes information, other than student performance, to determine necessary unit decisions.

a.) Employer Surveys

The purpose of this survey is to give employers an opportunity to provide feedback about the quality of the performance of graduates of the teacher preparation programs. Employer feedback is helpful in our efforts to improve programs in our School of Education. Individual responses are kept strictly confidential and are not identified. CLICK HERE FOR SURVEY DATA

b.) Candidate (Student) Surveys

The purpose of this survey is to give alumni an opportunity to provide feedback about the quality of the performance of graduates of the teacher preparation programs. Alumni feedback is helpful in our efforts to improve programs in our School of Education. Individual responses are kept strictly confidential and are not identified. CLICK HERE FOR SURVEY DATA

c.) Faculty Meetings

The faculty meets on a regular basis to discuss the candidate data that has been collected and analyzed to determine if programmatic changes are needed. The faculty members are additionally provided with the opportunity to express strengths and/or concerns that they have observed in their classes. CLICK HERE FOR MINUTES

d.) Committee Meetings

The School of Education has seven standing committees including the Curriculum and Assessment Committee, Technology Committee, Conceptual Framework Committee, Diversity Committee, Field Experience Committee, Faculty Qualifications Committee, Unit Governance Committee, and the Teacher Education Committee.

e.) Annual Stakeholders Meetings

The School of Education continues to seek opportunities to collaborate with the area stakeholders to provide highly qualified teachers and building level administrators to the local school districts. The purpose of this report is both to serve as an accountability document to the stakeholders and as a planning tool to improve the School of Education. CLICK HERE TO VIEW STAKEHOLDERS REPORT

7. Based on your answers to questions 5 and 6 regarding learning outcomes, prioritize your unit's future course of action. Include Plans for what will be done, by whom, and to what extent and how often.

- a.) The School of Education has an extensive assessment plan that details the actions that must be taken to meet NCATE Standards for accreditation. In addition to this plan which is a standing plan for assessment in the School of Education the following information was obtained through the use of the assessments mentioned in questions 5 and 6. CLICK HERE TO VIEW THE ASSESSMENT PLAN

8. Describe and provide specific evidence of how your unit is making learning accessible. Address historical patterns and trends. Include, if applicable, alternative modes of instruction (CIV, WebCT, Weekend, etc.)

- a.) The School of Education offers courses through CIV, WebCT, Saturday courses, intersession courses, and evening courses. This is evident in the schedules posted each semester for the School of Education. CLICK HERE TO VIEW SAMPLE SCHEDULES
- b.) Additionally, the School of Education has a 2+2 partnership agreement with two community colleges, South Arkansas Community College (SouthArk) and Phillips Community College University of Arkansas (PCCUA), to deliver the P-4 Early Childhood program via distance learning to the high need Mississippi Delta regions. UAM accepts the community college Associate of Arts in Teaching degree (AAT), Associate of Art Degree (AA) or its equivalent. This agreement requires the Candidates (students) to complete the P-4 Early Childhood courses from UAM. Because the candidates (students) are located in rural regions and are at least an hour to two hours from our campus, the majority of the courses are delivered via CIV. For admission to the UAM teacher education program candidates (students) must meet the same requirements as the traditional teacher education candidates. The candidates (students) are taught as a cohort via CIV and WebCT during the first year of instruction and are required to take the methods classes on the UAM campus in a traditional setting. More than fifty percent of the courses are delivered distance learning for the 2+2 candidates (students) and all courses are taught by UAM faculty and originate from the UAM campus. Data for 2+2 candidates (students) are collected and disaggregated independently of other program data.

- c.) UAM offers a Master of Arts in Teaching (M.A.T.) advanced degree for candidates (students) who are seeking initial licensure in a 7-12 content area. For admission, candidates (students) must have an undergraduate degree from an accredited college or university and the degree must contain at least 30 content hours in the area for which they are seeking licensure. Additionally, candidates (students) wishing to obtain a licensure in P-8 and 7-12 physical education, art, music (instrumental and vocal), and foreign language must complete a child development course. Physical education candidates (students) must also take a Growth and Motor Development course.

The 30 hour curriculum is pedagogy only and delivered during an initial two week summer seminar and by on-line courses each semester. Candidates (students) are issued a provisional license to teach while they complete the required program of study. In addition to the course work, candidates (students) are required to attend Saturday sessions.

9. Specifically describe how your unit involves students directly in the assessment process.

Candidates (students) are involved in the assessment process in the following ways:

- Candidates (students) serve on committees for the development of assessments
- Candidates (students) are asked to serve on the Teacher Education Committee (minutes)
- Candidates were involved through out the NCATE Accreditation Process
- Candidates (students) are included in stakeholders' meetings (list of invited guest)
- Candidates (students) are included in data review meetings

10. Describe and provide evidence of the efforts your unit is making to retain students in your unit and/or the University.

The School of Education believes that recruitment and retention go hand in hand. We cannot retain candidates that have never attended the university or taken an education class. The School of Education has a recruitment and retention committee that has developed an on going detailed plan for both recruitment and retention.
